

Does your business need an in-house lawyer?

Many companies use external specialists to support them. It is common to hear of companies using external specialists in IT, Human Resources and Finance. But what about a lawyer? There is a tendency to think you can only use a lawyer on a reactive ad hoc basis, paying hourly rates.

That is not the case.

You can use one of our specialist lawyers to help you successfully address the following challenges;

- Is your relationship with your key suppliers and customers properly documented or is everything 'on their terms'?
- Are you considering restructuring the business, investing further finance or planning an exit strategy but are unsure on how to proceed?
- Do you have managers with little or no legal expertise who are asked to tackle sensitive people issues?
- Are you thinking of tendering, acquiring or disposing of a business but do not know how to proceed?
- Is the relationship between your shareholders or directors or employees not properly documented?
- Do you have regular small legal matters that don't seem to go away but need tackling?

If any of these situations apply to your business, why not use us as your in-house lawyer? We promise that you will;

- Work with a named lawyer
- Be told upfront what the costs are – nothing will be hidden
- Receive a prompt response to every query

QualitySolicitors Talbots provides a flexible solution. We work with a number of businesses, on a retainer basis, for an agreed number of hours per month for an agreed cost. This can be in corporate commercial, employment, immigration – whatever area of business suits your needs. This means you cover all of your business' legal requirements whilst delivering this within your budget.

If you would like to discuss your requirements in more detail please do not hesitate to contact Melanie on melaniemapstone@talbotslaw.co.uk or 01384 445850. References can be provided upon request