QualitySolicitors Parkinson Wright are able to represent all family members including parents, grandparents and other immediate relatives.

When a relationship breaks down and children are involved, your main concern will be to protect their well-being.

Throughout all the practical considerations that are required during a separation or divorce, we never lose sight of the fact that your children's physical and emotional welfare comes first.

Our specialist family law solicitors are experienced in helping parents and families make arrangements for children following the breakdown of a relationship. We'll make sure that everyone involved understands their legal rights and responsibilities whilst ensuring that the views of you and your children are heard.

We can guide you through the Court procedure, explain your options, give you an estimate of our fees in advance and discuss whether public funding is available. We can represent you and/or provide advice throughout the proceedings.

We can advise on the following issues:

- Where and with whom the children will spend time (residence and contact)
- Prevent the other parent from:
 - Removing your child from your care
 - Removing the child from school
 - Changing the child's name
 - Taking your child out of the country
- If the other parent:
 - Takes your child without your consent
 - Takes the child on holiday without your consent
 - Changes the child's school without your consent

Additional Services:

- Children's services meetings
- Child Protection
- Care Proceedings
- Adoption
- Grandparents Rights
- Special Guardianship orders
- Emergency Protection orders
- Injunctions
- Family Mediation and Collaborative law

If you require additional information regarding any children arrangements or issues, QualitySolicitors Parkinson Wright will make your children our number one priority too. Please contact us on 01905 721600 for a first free advice meeting.
